

INSIDE OUTSTANDING

Three jurors from across the country gathered in May to judge 2016's examples of the best in education design. In determining citation winners, the jury considered these criteria:

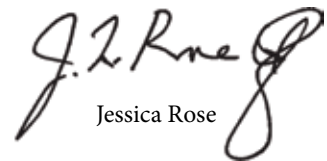

- Contribution to learning experience
- Ease of use
- Alignment with program and community
- Healthy for humans and environment
- Timeless aesthetics
- Variety of spaces to support all learners
- Deep, authentic, ongoing community engagement

Dr. David Dude

Judith P. Hoskens

Jessica Rose

WHAT THE JURY SAID

"Great connection between spaces. Establishes connection between real world and reuse of an existing office building to support learning."

p. 18-19

"Great use of space, light, and color. Aesthetically pleasing and notable. Architecturally outstanding."

p. 20-21

"Inspiring, architecturally rich environment. The flow between labs and common areas, flexibility of lab space, and mobility of furniture illustrate an admirable connection to curriculum."

p. 22

"Love the views through lobby, skybox, and other areas. Generous space for IT shows forward thinking. Locating arts and science areas right next to each other demonstrates innovative programming."

p. 23

"Beautiful transformation of Hall of Champions. Incorporation of logo and football-shaped floor are nice touches."

p. 24-25