

Interior EXCELLENCE

Three jurors from across the nation gathered in May to judge 2018's examples of the best in educational interior design. In determining citation winners, the jury considered these criteria:

- Successfully addresses the project vision and program
- Creates a healthful indoor environment
- Enhances the learning environment
- Ease of maintenance
- Functionality of the space
- Innovative use of materials / quality of craft
- Encourages interaction
- Sense of place
- Integration of systems

Brian Newman

Margaret Sarjou

Greg Spitzer

WHAT THE JURY SAID:

“Beautifully executed with wonderful use of natural light. Successful integration of old and new that celebrates the existing structure while providing new life and vitality to the spaces.” p. 16-17

“Fabulous reuse and conservation of available space. New details and finishes are appropriate and well-integrated. The open, collaborative environment will support the mission of the university.” p. 18-19

“Clear plan and space organization. Beautiful use of material palette. Open, contemporary, and welcoming.” p. 20

“Transformed a bland building into a vibrant and stunning contemporary environment. Nicely integrated glass partitions. Collaborative setup with mixed seating is warm and inviting. Timely and timeless.” p. 22-23